|---|---|
| He inoa nou e Kalaniana'oleO ka hui holo lio o ka 'ehu kai    | This is thy name song O Kalaniana'oleLeader of the riders washed by seasprays |
| 'Akahi o ka nani ua 'ike 'iaI ka holo ka'inapu a nā lio       | It was a glorious sightTo see the horses prancing                                 |
| Ua like me ka wai ānuenuēKa pipi'o i ke alo a'o Ka'ala        | Like the colors of the rainbowThat arches before the face of Ka'ala               |
| Ke 'ala o ke koa lau li'ili'iKauluwela i ke kula o Leilehua   | The fragrance of the tiny-leaved koaOn the sunny plain of Leilehua                |
| 'O ka lihilihi 'ula o ka pā,ūKa pulelo ha'aheo lā i ka makani | The bright colors of the pā,ūWaving proudly in the breeze                         |
| Ka makani onaona o ka 'āina'O ka hanu kēhau (a'o) ke kaona    | The fragrant breezes of the landAnd the dew-laden zephyrs of the town             |
| Hea aku mākou ō mai 'oe'O Kalaniana'ole kou inoa              | We call thee, do answerTo thy name song, O Kalaniana'ole                          |

Hui Holo Lio - Mary Kawena Pukui Collection. This is an abbreviated version; verses 4 and 6 of the Pukui text are not included. This mele is also found as "He Inoa wehi no Kalaniana'ole," composed by Queen Lili'uokalani for her 'ohana Prince Jonah.
